Yes a stand alone link to the EPA's air monitoring map.

A static link?

The epa website is located at www.response.epa.gov/south4groupfire.

It provides documents, images, and at the bottom of the cover page a Story Map.

The story map can be clicked on and scrolled through to show different aspects of the response (air monitoring, the aspect aircraft, Unified Command, etc.) and will include water sampling information in the near future.

Adam – any chance the EPA has a static link or could provide us one?

UC PIOs – we have fielded many inquiries related to the locations of air monitoring and road closures. I have attached the two maps for your approval to post to the response site.
